ROBERT EDGREN

EDGREN'S COLUMN

HIS morning's mail brought the following letter: Sporting Editor, Evening World: Dear Sir—What has become of the human fish? I have been watching the paper daily hoping to find an account of his trial against the tarpon, fishing expert of the New York Athletic Club, Mr. Naething. I want to put a bet down on the fish. I'm a tarpon fisherman myself—that is, I have had the pleasure of fishing for tarpon. But I never landed any. If a fish that doesn't know anything about my methods from personal observation could fool me, what will a wise fish like Mr. Wells do to Mr. Naething's tarpon tackle? I don't think he will even rise to the bait.

Yours anxiously,

A. FINNY.

This signature makes me somewhat suspicious. Is "Mr. Finny" trying to have fun with me? How can a man be a "tarpon fisherman" when he never caught a tarpon? On the same reasoning I might call myself a blue fisherman, because I went twice to Bridgeport at Fred Bullen's invitation to catch bluefish, and didn't catch any. But conceding that "Mr. Finny" really thinks for information, I will print the following facts:

The human fish is still training in the N. Y. A. C. tank.

The trial will come off Saturday night, the 24th, at the club, as part of a swimming programme.

The human fish won't "rise to the bait" because the hook is to be securely connected with a leather head piece before the fish jumps in.

The fish will try to swim to the other end of the tank, and Mr. Naething will attempt to head him off within twenty minutes and bring him back within minutes of the tank.

The fish has already put his fin to the articles, and the match will surely come off on the scheduled date.

TALKING about that human fish, the amphibious Mr. Wells will not use the "crawl stroke." This "crawl" is a new thing in the swimming line, and the first users of it thought they would splinter all world's records.

In the last swimming races at the N. Y. A. C. it was clearly demonstrated that the "crawl" is a very fast way of swimming for twenty or thirty yards. It might be a good way to finish in the last few feet of a race, if the swimmer had breath and strength enough left to do it. But as a racing stroke it is useless, for the simple reason that no man can keep it up. Some of the men in the hundred-yard event tried it. They started like a streak, shot over the first stretch of the course in record time, and slowed down to a real "crawl" before they had covered half the distance. As they tired they changed back to the good old stroke. Swimming has been popular ever since the time of Noah, and there will be no better strokes invented until the human race develops fins and a tail.

LAST Taylor has been cleared of all charges of crooked baseball playing. Every man who played with him came to his rescue. Especially strong was the statement of the state's attorney, Mike Grady, and the umpire, Mr. Emile Grady. Grady made an affidavit to the effect that Taylor had pitched only the balls for which he (Grady) had signed. The umpire stated that in his opinion, Taylor had played the game in question to the best of his ability.

In spite of these statements, and the fact that it is alleged some of the anti-davis accusing Taylor of crooked work were signed by persons of shady reputation, the Board of Directors of the National League preface their judgment with these words:

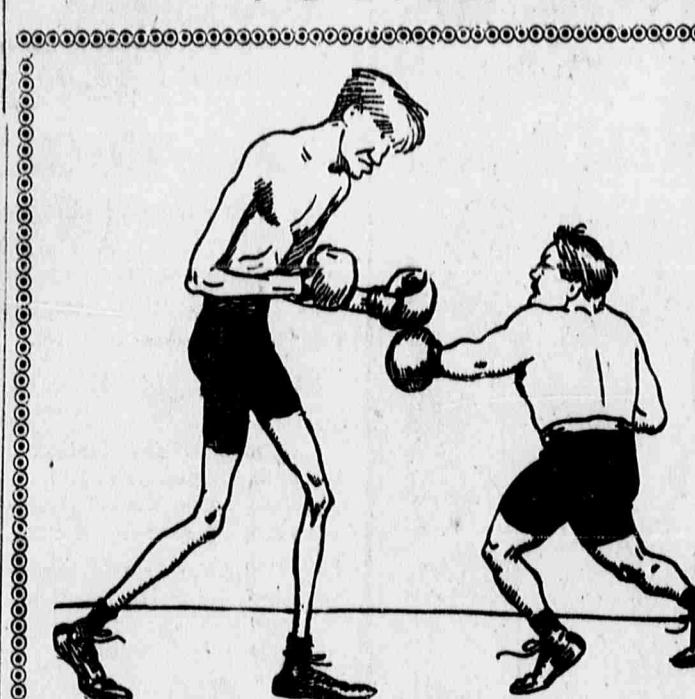

"On the first count the board was confronted with a great deal of documentary and oral testimony, but inasmuch as a verdict of guilty would carry with it expulsion of the player and loss of livelihood the board, after weighing the evidence carefully and giving the player the benefit of every possible doubt, finds him not guilty on the first charge."

This seems unfair. While Taylor is exonerated, as he should be, the words of the judgment intimates that he is guilty, but is "let off" because a conviction would do him more damage than the board cares to inflict.

In the opinion of followers of the name, Taylor, when the facts did not warrant his conviction of "crookedness," should have been cleared by an open and manly verdict.

THE Prohibition party, however, will commend the fine of $300 imposed upon Taylor. Because he looked upon the wine when it was red, Mr. Pulliam stands in danger of being made candidate for United States President by that party at the next national election.

FIDELIAS EQUAL THE ALGONQUINS' RECORD

Two Teams Now Are Tied for First Honors in The Evening World's Head-Pin Bowling Tournament.

The Fidelias made good their record as crack head pin bowlers in The Evening World's free head pin tournament at the White Elephant alleys last night. While they did not put up a new record, they bowled in fine form and equalled the figures of 517 made by the Algonquins, the high score made in this tournament.

The Fidelias added to their glory and gained for their club the distinction of being the first team of which the five members qualified for the jobs donated by The Evening World for scores of 100 or more.

It was the general impression after the Fidelias had finished their first half and had put up a tally of 282 pins that they would break the record held by the Algonquins, the high score made in this tournament. This opinion was strengthened when they started on the second half, but Schults fell down, putting up a tally in the last frame of only 100. Sothermel caused things to brighten when he tallied 107. Soth then made 100, and their hopes lay in Almann, the last man to bowl. He played in hard luck, for his bowling was of a high order. He had to make tens in the last frame to beat the Algonquins by one pin, but he only got nine pins on the final ball, and this tied the Indians' score of 517.

The scores of last night's games are as follows:

Harry Tuthill Won't Be in Corbett's Corner This Time.

Harry Tuthill, who has trained "Young Corbett" and also handled him in all of his championship battles, will not be in the little Denver fighter's corner this time when he fights Battling Nelson in San Francisco on Feb. 28. Tuthill says that the acquisition of Joe Gans into the training camp of "Young Corbett" has evidently done him out of the job with Corbett.

Murphy's New Fighter.
Teddy Murphy, the ex-manager of Battling Nelson, has taken another fighter under his wing. This fighter is Tony Capone, the Chicago welterweight, who has a long string of victories to his credit. Murphy has matched his protégé to meet George Ryan, of Milwaukee, at Kenosha, Wis., for six rounds at 10 pounds on Feb. 27.

Blackburn-Flynn Date.
The Nonpareil Athletic Club of South St. Louis has fixed Feb. 27 as the date for the 12-round fight between Jack Blackburn, of Philadelphia, and Cy Flynn, of Buffalo. They will fight at 142 pounds. Both men have posed for the cameras.

Need a Strong Fighter.
Paddy Neer, who meets Harry Forbes at the Auditorium in Indianapolis Monday, is a fighter of the Battling Nelson type. He is a great favorite in the Chicago Athletic Club, and his friends say he will be there at the fish of the ten rounds with Forbes, as he was in the Kalamazoo match. The semi-final and preliminaries will be announced to-morrow.

Duane Is Training.
Danny Duane, the clever light-weight fighter of this city, is working hard to get into shape for his twenty-round bout with Peter Sullivan, the New England light-weight, which takes place at New Bedford, Mass., on Washington's Birthday. Duane is one of the best light-weights when he is fit there is in the business.

This a Good Fight.
Dave Barry, the California middle-weight, will meet the Dixie Kid, the colored fighter, of California in a six-round bout before the Lancaster (Pa.) A. C. to-night. The Dixie Kid says he will try and put out Grim and there by accomplish a feat which no other fighter has been able to do.

Sayers Offered Match.
Maurice Sayers, the 130-pounder, of Chicago, has been offered a match with the winner of the Kid Herman-Billy Pineau battle, at Hot Springs, on Feb. 22.

PASTIME'S OUTDOOR RUN.
From the number of entries received for the road race of the Pastime Athletic Club on Washington's Birthday it is evident that there will be keen rivalry for the team prize among the local clubs. The Xavier, Star Athletic Club, Mohawk, St. Bartholomew, Boys' Club and others have entered representatives. The course selected, starting from Huber's Casino and return, insures a clear road for the race independent of weather conditions, as it is kept free from ice and snow by the railroad company. Entries may be sent to J. E. Sullivan, No. 15 Warren street, or C. J. Diego, No. 25 John street.
